A Scientific Path to Discovering the Secrets of Successful Aging and Cancer Avoidance

The Colonial Rottweiler Club Invites You to Join Us

The Colonial Rottweiler Club is excited to announce that we have been selected as a destination for a Celebration Stop as part of the 2014 Old Grey Muzzle Tour – a 50-day cross-country, scientific expedition led by one of the nation's most respected cancer and aging scientists, Dr. David Waters, DVM, PhD.

Dr. Waters and his colleagues at the Murphy Foundation's Center for Exceptional Longevity Studies are championing the idea that dogs with extreme longevity – equivalent to humans who live to be 100 years old – offer a valuable yet underutilized research opportunity to uncover important clues to understanding what it takes to age more successfully and avoid cancer. During the Old Grey Muzzle Tour, Dr. Waters will travel coast-to-coast for detailed study of 12 of the oldest-living Rottweilers in their homes.

On Saturday March 1st, the Colonial Rottweiler Club will host Dr. Waters in Ramsey, New Jersey as he engages in an informative 2-hour community discussion on, sharing the latest results and insights revealed by his unique “out of the laboratory and into the living room” approach to aging and cancer research. His presentation, which will emphasize the importance of both discovering and educating, is titled: “Healthier Aging for Pets and People: What the Oldest-Old Rottweilers are Teaching Us About Successful Aging and Cancer Avoidance.”

You're invited to join us for this special event, an exciting afternoon of celebration on the forefront of scientific discovery! Seating is limited and interest is high. To register, please go to <http://www.colonialrottclub.org/old-grey-muzzle-tour> and reserve your place as soon as possible.

This is a rare opportunity to experience first-hand the nation's only scientific study of aging in dogs with exceptional longevity. You can become a part of this amazing discovery process that serves both the humans and animals we love by reserving your seat today.
