

ROTTWEILER HEALTH FOUNDATION

"Every Rottweiler deserves a long, healthy life."
Will you be a part of making this a reality?

The Rottweiler Health Foundation is a nonprofit public benefit corporation founded in 1997. Volunteer Officers and Directors raise needed health research funds through dues, donations grants, and fund raising efforts solely to benefit canine health and longevity. Funds are disbursed through worthy applicant projects from veterinary researchers and universities working to make dogs' lives healthier.

Benefitting Rottweiler owners around the world research projects funded to date include:

- markers to diagnose cancer
- cruciate rupture therapies
- regenerative medicine for cartilage disorders
- stem cell research for Hemangiosarcoma
- anti-tumor treatments for Osteosarcoma
- the genetics of Canine Leukemia
- histiocytic malignancies
- studying exceptional longevity in Rottweilers and cancer resistance.
- grants for these projects have been given to major veterinary researchers across the USA.

Will you join in helping us extend the healthy lives of our Rottweilers?
